

MONTHLY REVENUE

MRR across the base

456.12K

ARPU

per customer/month

$64.76

CUSTOMERS

active + churned

7K

CHURN RATE

1,869 lost

26.54%

CHURNED MRR

30.5% of MRR

139.13K

Retention should prioritize month-to-month customers paying by electronic check, especially high-value accounts since they carry the largest revenue exposure.

Customers by Value Segment

Customers by Tenure Group

Total Customers by InternetService

Demographics

Share of the base flagged Yes for each attribute.

Customer Segment by Contract Type

Customer_Value_Segment	Month-to-month	One year	Two year	Total
Low Value	1157	481	713	2351
Medium Value	1454	473	418	2345
High Value	1264	519	564	2347
Total	3875	1473	1695	7043

Month-to-month customers are the largest contract group across all value segments, making contract type a key retention lever.

Monthly Revenue (MRR) by Value Segment

ARPU by Contract Type

Revenue (MRR) by Tenure Group

Monthly Revenue (MRR) by InternetService

High-Value At-Risk Customers

High Value · Month-to-month · still active

599

High-Value At-Risk Customers

Monthly Revenue Exposed

MRR tied to the 599 accounts above

$56.856K

High-Value At-Risk Revenue

Churn Rate by Payment Method

Churn Rate by Tenure Group

Retention Priority Matrix — churn rate & revenue at risk

Customer_Value_Segment	Month-to-month	One year	Two year	Total
Low Value	30.0% $11,904	4.0% $599	1.0% $211	15.9% $12,714
Medium Value	44.2% $46,071	9.1% $2,928	2.4% $697	29.7% $49,696
High Value	52.6% $62,871	20.0% $10,592	5.5% $3,258	34.1% $76,722

Red intensity = churn rate. Month-to-month High Value is the hottest cell: 52.6% churn and the largest revenue-at-risk pool the segment to defend first.